INTERNATIONAL FIELD COMPETING IN INAUGURAL DISNEY YOUTH NETBALL TOURNAMENT AT DISNEY WORLD

October 28, 2014; Lake Buena Vista, Florida, USA.... Netball finally returns to its country of origin – and in a big way, with the first ever on-site Disney International Youth Netball Tournament being played in the renowned ESPN Wide World of Sports Complex at Walt Disney World Resort in Florida. Teams of talented young ladies from around the world are competing in this Netball competition this week.

The two Head Coaches, Patricia Kilczynski, one of the development coaches for the Hertfordshire Mavericks Netball Superleague franchise and Michelle Morgan, Director of Netball University Worcester were recently dubbed “UK’s finest” in the press and are supported by a team of international coaches from around the globe.

Held at ESPN Wide World of Sports Complex located at Walt Disney World Resort in Lake Buena Vista, Florida, the tournament is hosting both school and club teams from around the world competing in youth categories. Countries competing include the United Kingdom, Australia, South Africa, Bermuda, Canada and the USA. All teams are lodging on-site at the Walt Disney World.

The event, a partnership between Walt Disney World and Visions in Education, a UK and USA-based specialist travel and event company, is the first of its kind to bring Netball to a global stage for young ladies from around the world. Visions In Education in a strategic partnership with Netball America, the premier Netball organisation in the United States who were awarded the bid to host the 2016 World University Netball Championship by FISU, is also playing a big role in ensuring only top-of-the-line standards and competition are achieved.

Further announcements for the 2015 event and information on final rankings will be released on Thursday evening, EST.
